DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-35 are pending and examined.

Election/Restrictions

2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-23 and 30-35, drawn to a method of generating a mucosal immune response and treating/preventing disease with a vaccine comprising an antigen, classified in class 435, subclass 5.
 - II. Claims 1-23 and 30-35, drawn to a method of generating a mucosal immune response and treating/preventing disease with a vaccine comprising nucleic acid encoding an antigen, classified in class 514, subclass 44.
 - III. Claims 24-29, drawn to a particulate vaccine comprising an antigen, classified in class 424, subclass 184.1.
 - IV. Claims 24-29, drawn to a particulate vaccine comprising nucleic acid encoding an antigen, classified in class 536, subclass 23.1.
3. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:
 - a) Inventions (I-II) and (III-IV) are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product, a vaccine comprising an antigen or a nucleic acid encoding the antigen can be used in a method of isolating antibodies.

Art Unit: 1648

b) Inventions I and II are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are drawn to a method of administering an antigen and a nucleic acid encoding the antigen. The methods are not disclosed as capable of use together. These methods use different reagents, protein and nucleic acid, which are structurally and chemically distinct.

c) Inventions III and IV are unrelated because the antigen vaccine of Invention III and the nucleic acid vaccine of Invention IV are structurally and chemically distinct. They are not disclosed as capable of use together.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the literature search required for one group is not co-extensive for any other group, and therefore burdensome, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

4. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and a product claim is subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be rejoined in accordance with the provisions of MPEP § 821.04. Process claims that depend from or otherwise include all the limitations of the patentable product will be entered as a matter of right if the amendment is presented prior to final rejection or allowance, whichever is earlier.

Amendments submitted after final rejection are governed by 37 CFR 1.116; amendments submitted after allowance are governed by 37 CFR 1.312.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103, and 112. Until an elected product claim is found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowed product claim will not be rejoined. See "Guidance on Treatment of Product and Process Claims in light of In re Ochiai, In re Brouwer and 35 U.S.C. § 103(b)," 1184 O.G. 86 (March 26, 1996). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, Applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution either to maintain dependency on the product claims or to otherwise include the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
